

Bryce Hauser

Artist Statement

Iron (Fe) has been integral to the development of contemporary society and a true indicator of where we stand today as a whole. Each of these works is an exploration of a reaction cast piece of Iron and a similar forged and fabricated improvisation of steel. The juxtaposition of these elements is to unite the ancient, ritualistic and archaic with the contemporary world. Finding similarities and moments of tension and texture between the timeless and the contemporary we enter a dialog with ourselves and the world leading to greater understanding and empathy.